

Calgary Board of Education

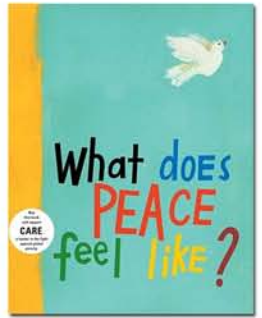

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Learning for Literature

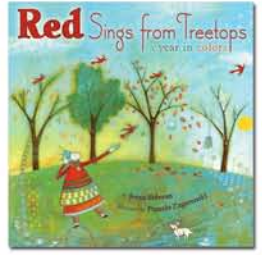

Using current literature to invigorate your professional practice:

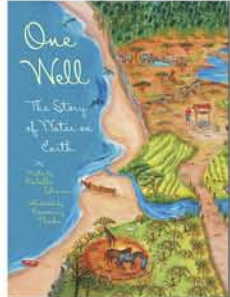

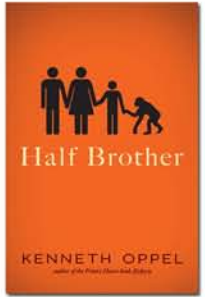

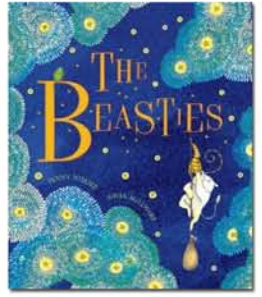

- Why we use quality literature
- How we choose quality literature
- How we connect literature to learning
- How we use picture books for learning
- Other literature sessions tailored to your professional needs

For further information about this professional development opportunity, please contact:

Jacqueline Vincent | javincent@cbe.ab.ca
 Linda Steen | lsteen@shaw.ca
 Diane Gregson | diane.gregson@telus.net

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Learning for Literature

Jacquie Vincent (B.A., B.Ed., Dip. Ed., M.Ed.) is currently the teacher-librarian at Centennial High School in Calgary. She has been in education for more than three decades and loves working in the school's best classroom, the library. Reading is a favourite pastime because stories, both fiction and non-fiction explore the world of human experience. Where else could readers meet so many extraordinary individuals in diverse times and places?

Linda Steen (B.Ed., Dip. Ed., M. Ed.) has over 30 years of experience as a full-time teacher-librarian with the Calgary Board of Education. Her career has also included time as a consultant in the field of gifted education. Now retired from the CBE, Linda continues to follow her passion for children's literature by assisting schools with the collection development, reviewing the latest book titles, participating in literature events and contributing to Wired for Words.

Diane Gregson (B.Ed., Dip. Ed., M. Ed.) was an elementary teacher for the Calgary Board of Education for over 25 years. The school library was always the hub of the classroom learning as children engaged with quality literature, non fiction and digital resources. She is excited about the new resources that have recently been added to the Wired for Words website as they have become new "favourites", that go along with other wonderful treasures already on the site.

